

KEN HOFFMAN

■ Friends make fun of me because I take ratty underwear and socks on vacation, and throw them out as I travel. That way, I'm not carrying dirty smelly socks in my suitcase, mingling with my clean clothes.

I found a company on the Internet that sells disposable underpants for when you're on vacation.

The company is www.dnaproductsonline.com, and a package of five underpants costs $3. They sell both men's and women's underwear.

I'm going on vacation in a few weeks and will try them.
